

I think this is yet another blatant instance of where our government is compromising the interest of the greater population for the sake of the financial wealth of a few. Our democracy is far from the ideal of 1 man(person) 1 vote and much closer to 1 vote per Million dollars of net worth. And we wonder why people in poorer countries reject our style of governing?